1846 - Centennial Year - 1946

Iowa has come of age. In 1846 that fertile empire lying between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers was set off from the immense body of land then called Wisconsin Territory and a new state was born and entered the Federal Union under the Indian name of Iowa with the slogan "Of all that is good Iowa affords the best" the state has become world-famous for the abundance and variety of the products of her fields and factories.

1946 ALSO A SHORTHORN CENTENNIAL

Just a hundred years ago volume number one of Coates Shorthorn herd book began recording the pedigrees of pure-bred cattle.

Originating in "the tight little isle" of Britain the great cosmopolitan breed called Durhams or Shorthorns has gone to every land where the English language is spoken and has established itself as pre-eminently "the farmers cow."

The first herd of purebred Shorthorns in Iowa is reputed to have been owned by a Mr. Day, and located near the town of Stockport in Van Buren county. Later Cedar County was the Shorthorn capitol but for some years past Marshall county has claimed premier honors.

The Marshall County Shorthorn Breeder's Association was organized shortly after the civil war by a group of those far-sighted farmers who realized that only by production of good cattle could the coarser grains and grasses of this new country be turned into wealth without depleting the fertility of the soil. The Shorthorn breed was chosen for this purpose because of its superiority in combining size, feeding-quality and quiet disposition with a liberal production of milk.

Numerous herds were founded, the famous eastern breeding establishments in Illinois, Ohio and Kentucky were drawn upon for their choicest specimens, and the names of Hon. E. L. Lemert, J. H. McKibben, M. E. Andrews, George Crary, E. M. Wyatt, Harper and Frazier, G. F. Capron, Richeson Bros., S. P. Girton, J. D. Downer, Jesse Binford, Thomas Blackburn, D. M. Moninger, Charles Eckles, John Hughes, Delano Smith, Henry Floto, Charles and Henry Buck, T. G. Wickersham and others began to attain a reputation reaching beyond state lines and in the case of Mr. Moninger, whose famous Crimson Herd was a marvel of its time, it became international. The cooperative auction sale was adopted as the fairest and most convenient method of bringing together the commercial cattle growers who needed this improved seed stock, and its producers. Col. J. W. Judy and Col. F. M. Woods of Illinois, and J. West Jones of Iowa, famous early day giants of the auction block often conducted these sales. In later years Carey M. Jones, Geo. P. Bellows, Fred Reppert and N. G. Kraschel, all salesmen of national reputation have officiated. Large numbers of good animals were distributed to buyers thruout the middle west and did their part in the great work of bovine improvement and wealth production.

In more recent years Clair G. Mason and John E. Halsey have taken care of the selling and have few peers on the auction block.

The earlier career of the Association was somewhat varied and spasmodic but since 1906 it has functioned continuously and not year has gone by without at least one auction sale. We feel that this is a record unequaled by any similar breed organization in America.

This Centennial year would be a good year in which to found your Shorthorn herd. Included in this our 60th sale you will find very desirable young animals of both sexes. We cordially invite your attendance and inspection and feel certain your visit here can be both interesting and profitable.

The dam of this calf is from the well known Bruce Mayflower family having six generations of George Bruce breeding on it, and is sired by Ka Del Pilot 1809817 the bull I sold last spring in the Marshalltown sale for $355. He was bred by Urice Bros. and was out of Max Walton Red Baron. A very fine calf in every way. Ka Del Pilot sired one of the evenest crop of calves ever dropped on the farm. All are good in every way, deep-bodied, low-set, fine color and very gentle. In need of a dark red bull of quality, look up this entry.

A dark red bull from 4 generations of red dams, from a family I prize the highest on the farm. They are rapid producers of good calves, always very gentle, and exceptionally good milkers. His sire Ka Del Pilot 2189817 the calf I sold in the Marshalltown sale as a 2-year-old for $355 last spring. A rugged calf, but not carrying to much flesh, should do well for the buyer.
